Every Child Deserves a Great Teacher

At Nevada Teachers of Tomorrow, we believe every child deserves a great teacher. Becoming a teacher isn't just a career choice; it's a calling, a commitment, and a chance to shape the future.

When you embark on the rewarding teaching journey, you will:

Higher than national average salaries - The average salary of a Nevada teacher is $58,008, higher than the national average of $57,388. With more years of experience and a higher level of education, some Nevada teachers earn as much as $70,750.

Comprehensive benefits and retirement package - You will receive comprehensive benefits, including health insurance, dental coverage, and a retirement package once you enter the public school system.

Special finance - Through the Silver State Family Credit, Nevada offers special financing to teachers. This provides additional financial assistance to you and your family.

Extended vacation time - You will enjoy extended vacation periods, like summer breaks, holidays, and weekends. During these days, you can rest, pursue personal or professional development, and spend quality time with family and friends.

Diversity - Nevada's schools have a diverse student population, which provides teachers with the opportunity to work with students from various backgrounds and cultures.

Engaging community - Working as an educator provides a supportive community where you can build positive relationships with fellow educators, students, and parents.
